

Résumé

Philippe Saner

PERSONAL INFORMATION

Email: philippe.saner@gmail.com
Phone: 613.854.5156
Address: 1380 Prince of Wales (Suite 1703)
Ottawa, Ontario, K2C 3N5
URL: saner.ca

PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS

- ◆ Honours Bachelor of Science in Statistics with Minor in Computer Science for Scientists, University of Ottawa, 2016
- ◆ A. Stat, Statistical Society of Canada
- ◆ Reliability Status, Government of Canada.

EMPLOYMENT BACKGROUND

- ◆ Freelance statistical consulting, proofreading, and editing, 2014-Present
- ◆ Tutor, Ottawa Math Tutoring, 2017
- ◆ Statistician, Discoverly. 2016 - 2017
- ◆ Coop Student, Business Survey Methods Division, Statistics Canada. Summer 2015
- ◆ Coop Student, Controlled Substances and Tobacco Directorate, Health Canada. Summer 2014
- ◆ Research assistant to Professor Hofstra, University of Ottawa. Summer 2013.

OTHER POSITIONS AND FUNCTIONS

- ◆ Freelance roleplaying game writing, including administration of the DFRPG Resource Wiki and contributions to The Fate Codex, Sub Rosa, and Sufficiently Advanced.

REFERENCES

- ◆ Available upon request.

EXPERIENCE SUMMARY

I am primarily a statistician, familiar with the use of R, SPSS, Stata, SAS, Excel, and X12-ARIMA. I have a strong interest in human ability, human personality, and in the use of testing to evaluate them, and worked for a start-up developing a program to assist students in choosing their college major to grow my knowledge.

I have experience assisting with academic, government, and private-sector research, in fields ranging from medicine to language acquisition. I am fully comfortable working with scientists from a variety of backgrounds.

Although not primarily a programmer, I am trained in computer science and comfortable writing code in Java, R, Stata, SAS, or Excel.

I write, mostly for tabletop roleplaying games. I have a keen amateur interest in, and fairly deep understanding of, game design and game theory. I study mathematical game theory on my own time.

I am a proficient proofreader; I regularly proofread for hobby projects, and occasionally do similar work for pay.

I am a fourth-degree black belt in Taekwondo and occasionally teach classes in the art. I have a background in debate and am very comfortable speaking to a crowd.

I am well-versed in politics, current events, recent scientific advances, and the state of the environment.

I have some sales experience, but would prefer not to work a sales-intensive job.

I pride myself on my ability to remain calm, stable, and productive when confronted with catastrophic situations and impossible deadlines.